ATTENDANCE POLICY

In order to achieve a high level of performance, attendance at all rehearsals, concerts, and special events is imperative. If you are ill, please contact us.

A chorister who misses rehearsals will find it difficult to keep up with the choir, and slows the progress of the whole choir. The chief difference between 'singing' and 'singing in a choir' is the building of ensemble—singing in tune, being rhythmic, enunciating clearly, uniformly singing the correct vowel, being expressive and sounding like one instrument. These qualities only develop as choristers work together as a team. The music learned for one concert becomes part of the repertoire for the whole season. A chorister who hasn't adequately learned materials for a concert will not know them well for future performances.

- Coro Profondo choristers who miss more than 2 rehearsals (for any reason, including illness) may not be permitted to sing the next concert. Exceptions may be considered on a case by case basis. Final decisions are made by the artistic team.

- Attendance at dress rehearsal is mandatory. Choristers who are not in attendance at dress rehearsal will not be permitted to sing the concert.
- Poor attendance at rehearsals and concerts may result in a chorister being asked to withdraw from the choir for the remainder of the season.
